Guided tours

A pleasant evening at the summit of the Lema.

Organised with the participation of the Le Pleiadi association.

After dinner, from around 9 p.m. the astronomical observatory will be at your disposal for a guided tour. In the morning, possible observation of the Sun from our observatory with a special instrument. Depending on the number of guests, we will be divided into two groups, one group will visit the observatory and the other group will walk along the Insubric path in the moonlight, and then swap roles. The Insubric path is suggestive because it offers a magnificent view of two lakes, Ceresio and Lago Maggiore. We will be guided by the Moon. The astronomical observatory can be reached by a new and comfortable path (bio-geological path) a few minutes to enjoy the view from the Alps to the Apennines.
